

it's a new day and a new beginning. isn't it great that a new day gives us a chance to have a different outcome. perhaps make different decisions, better decisions. that's possible if we will just submit it to the Lord. if we follow our own inclinations, perhaps not so.

as of yesterday, there will be a broader access to these writings. i am well aware the word says "let not many of you become teachers, knowing that we shall receive a stricter judgment." james 3:1 friends, i seek to warn and encourage, not to teach. please never put anything i say above what God says. i may error but He will not. i hope you who have been around for awhile will endure any repetitions that might be made. some things are worth repeating. i want to go where the Lord leads and today i feel it might not be what we all prefer to hear.

there are many things going on in the world and one might consider ignorance bliss. but God has said "my people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. because you have rejected knowledge, I also will reject you from being priest for Me; because you have forgotten the law of your God, I also will forget your children." hosea 4:6 we must not hide from knowledge. the consequences are too grave.

first let me talk about cern. cern is a particle accelerator/collider. it is the largest machine in the world today made by man. it is composed of a huge ring that is 17 miles around and sits on the border of switzerland. i remember years ago there was talk of it being constructed close to me. the decision to build it in europe was perhaps more spiritually guided. europe has much history which might fit in better with their purposes and america was too christian at the time. purposes which i feel might not have good intentions. i know they say they are pursuing "scientific" knowledge, but is that the real goal here?

here is what has been said by sergio b. the director of cern. he has said that the collider could open a doorway to an extra dimension. and out of this door might come something, or we might send something through it. (perhaps from the bottomless pit?) prominently displayed on their premises is the pagan diety "shiva", "the destroyer". their logo is 3 6's (666) together in different positions. (ring any bells?) if cern is just "science" then why is there shiva and worship dances to shiva? (just all in fun?) i am just providing a brief introduction here. you may research it for yourselves. (again knowledge) friends, it is later than we think.

later than we think indeed. being aware of things in the world enables us to pray more specifically instead of in generalities. "then the sixth angel poured out his bowl on the great river euphrates, and its water was dried up, so that the way of the kings from the east might be prepared." rev 16:12 do you know the river euphrates is even now beginning to dry up. people are complaining they need to go farther to draw water.

talk is being made of the gog and magog war; some countries are approving euthanasia; plans are being made for digital genetic sequencing of all species, including humans; plaques of hail and locusts amidst earthquakes and volcanic eruptions. certainly we seek to take care of this earth entrusted to us, but should the older allow the younger to lecture us on "climate change"? "and I will give children to be their princes, and babes shall rule over them." isa 3:4 perhaps our just desserts. remind anyone of greta thunberg?

and shall i proceed to abortion? the sacrifice of the most innocent. it is as though we had plunged the knife our self to appease a god. (the god of self) though most nations only allow it before a certain time, in america it is often performed right up to the time of birth.

even scientists have now discovered that a spark occurs the moment an egg is fertilized by the sperm. a woman named gloria polo stated in her book in 1995 that in her near death experience she saw a spark of light as soon as the sperm and egg unite. it doesn't matter at what stage the abortion is done. it has already become a living soul. i invite all to view this six minute video about abortion. watch his emotion at the end. <https://www.foxnews.com/opinion/ben-domenech-us-extreme-abortion-regime-world-wakes-up-moral-reality>

even though i respect and understand why many people reject the vaccine, i don't like them joining the chant "my body, my choice". it seems to me it offers some agreement or legitimacy to the abortionists chant. none of us are judging if you have had an abortion. His blood covers all.

i know there are many conditions and circumstances that make birthing undesirable. but to take another's life is not our decision to make. if you have had an abortion, i beg you to take it to Jesus. do not just assume it is all covered under one's confession of belief. there are consequences to actions and they are not all handled in confession. take no chances. be sure to get it, the consequences and guilt, under the blood. just talk to Jesus.

what are my conclusions to all these things? we live in exciting times. in profound times. we were all born for such a time as this. the evil will grow worse and worse and the good will grow better and better. even as God allows the deceivers to be deceived, He will provide light to the faithful. will the bad be so evil they deserve the tribulation period while the good experience the rapture and their escape from death? "and unless those days were shortened, no flesh would be saved." matt 24:22 fear not these things but arm yourselves for the battle. fighting not against flesh and blood but the one who inhabited evil in the beginning. armed with the word of God and the shield of faith as defense, doing all to stand, we stand. we know Who holds tomorrow and we know He holds our hand. "knowing, therefore, the terror of the Lord, we persuade men." 2 cor 5:11 are you persuaded?
