

let me apologize to everyone. as i lay on my bed this morning, the Lord brought so much to my remembrance and wove all the thoughts together so perfectly. now as i sit here, i had written an entire page but couldn't for the life of me recall how He laid it all out. it felt so pieced together and uninspired. i kept having to correct my typing; more than usual. i will not give out anything that might be coming from me and not the Lord. i don't know why i feel like this today. i know He is always with me and there is always a purpose to His plan. He knows how to make lemonade out of lemons. He knows how to turn our failures into victories. even now i don't know what i am trying to say. i don't know if this might be helping someone to learn something or not. i just know there is no inspiration coming that i can feel. maybe someone thinks i am acting like a know-it-all. i fall short too.

so this will be a day without your usual lengthy email. short and sweet as they say. just know that God loves you. He will never leave you or forsake you or relax His hold upon you. heb 13:5 even if we are not feeling Him at the moment. like the picture about footprints in the sand; sometimes there were two and sometimes there was only one. those were the times He carried us. maybe that's what someone needed to hear today.

Lord, i don't know what it's all about today. just please use whatever scattered message or words that might be here to your glory. i pray tomorrow there will be more to deliver. open my eyes to see and my ears to hear and my mind to recall. in Jesus name.

linda