just if

"whereas you do not know what will happen tomorrow. for what is your life? it is even a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away. " james 4:14

if tomorrow, i should never wake up, i wanted to say i'm sorry. i'm sorry for what i've done, and what i haven't done. i could have done more. i should have done more. i wish i had done more.

if i harmed anyone in anyway, yelled at them, ignored them, or didn't care properly display concern ... i'm sorry.

if tomorrow, i should never wake up, i wanted to say, thank you. whatever you brought into my life, i know it was all in God's plan and that's where i want to always be.

if you and me were the best of friends, thank you for always being there. i we only talked once and on occasion, and didn't go to have the same likes and dislikes, and were... not good friends, thank you for humbling me and teaching me that God grows a large variety in His garden.

if tomorrow, i should never wake up, i wanted to say everything i never had time to, remembered to say or should have said. i am not perfect but then no one is. there was only One who ever was and "the Lord will perfect that which concerns me." psa 138:8 i trust Him to perfect it in you also ... in His time, in His way. because of that, i thank you for having a part in my life.

if tomorrow, i should never wake up, know i have tasted the goodness of God and bathed in His grace. my life has not been all that i thought it would be or wanted it to be, but the end has far surpassed the beginning.
years i spent in darkness, dabbling with self and sin.
then my eyes were opened to the light.

if tomorrow, i should never wake up, please know you were always in my prayers. some by name and others by spirit. my pray for you was the same as God's - "thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you a future and a hope." jer 29:11

if tomorrow, i should never wake up, i hope none will feel sorrow at my passing. know that i will have now fully entered the true sabbath we all long for. i am with my Lord and my God.

what would you say if you did not wake up tomorrow?
please settle it now, while it is today!
