the fullness of time

"but when the fullness of the time had come, God sent forth His Son" gal 4:4

God is about ready to send forth His Son for a second time. the first time they did not recognize the time of their "visitation." the second time it will be unmistakable. His coming will split the mount of olives in two and every eye shall see Him.

He will not be coming this time as a lamb for the slaughter. He will come as King of kings and Lord of lords. that time is almost here. just as there will be a fulfillment of time, there will be a fulfillment of all that was spoken in His word, by the Word.

He is coming with judgment on all those who have rejected His saving grace. the thing they greatly fear will most certainly come upon them. that death is not nothingness - there is a hereafter and a recompense for actions. that there really is a sovereign Being who created all - it did not just all evolve. the world talks of equity. equity will finally be achieved in giving each one their due.

"when i was a child, i spoke as a child, i understood as a child, i thought as a child; but when i became a man, i put away childish things." 1 cor 13:11 i know paul uses the vernacular of "man" when speaking these words, but they are applicable to both sexes (and there are only two and God decides which, not people). the delusion and confusion gripping the world today is ripe for judgment.

where is your understanding in these things - in Godly things? do you still play the child and participate in child-like things or have you put them away and grown into maturity? is there fruit maturing now in your life? are you able to speak Godly wisdom if one comes seeking at your door? "and do this, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep; for now our salvation is nearer than when we first believed."
rom 13:11

awake to the ripening of the fruit. awake to the season we are in. awake to the fullness of time. "the grass withers, the flower fades, but the word of our God stands forever." isa 40:8 "behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation." 2 cor 6:2

"but solid food belongs to those who are of full age, that is, those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil." heb 5:14 have you feeding on solid food yet or are you still on baby food? "the night is far spent, the day is at hand." rom 13:12

there is a fullness of time. it may not come when we think it should or in the way we think it should, but surely it comes. and i might add, it's coming for each of us. it will most likely come as a "suddenly," catching many unaware. "do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap." gal 6:7

the fullness of this time - this age - is quickly coming. "look to the rock from which you were hewn, and to the hole of the pit from which you were dug." is 51:1 let us lay aside all those childish things and look to the joy set before us. He is coming for those who are ready. those who are looking. those who desire Him above all else. even so, come quickly Lord Jesus.

bathe yourself in expectancy - especially in the season we are in. "examine yourselves as to whether you are in the faith. test yourselves. do you not know yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you? - unless indeed you are disqualified." 2 cor 13:5 we should do this every time we receive communion - how much less if we take this time seriously.

i know many, even most reading these dailies, have a firm foundation and i am in a way, "preaching to the choir." i just don't want anyone to be caught unaware. get as close to Jesus as you can and cling as tightly as you can. and think as i do always - today could be THE day. maranatha!
