jokes and true light

maybe you've heard some of these and maybe you haven't. maybe you're not familiar with some of the "practices" of varying denominations. just know they are uttered with respect to all who name Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior.

Q: how many church members does it take to change a light bulb?

A: change? what do you mean change?

Q: how many congregationalists does it take to change a light bulb?

A: well, first we need a committee to decide whether or not to change the light bulb. then we need a committee to decide the process for changing the lightbulb. and finally we need a committee to select the number of people to carry out said process of changing the lightbulb.

Q: how many presbyterians does it take to change a lightbulb?

A: change? that's my mother's lightbulb!

Q: how many baptists does it take to change a light bulb?

A: change a light bulb with all that water around?

Q: how many lutherans does it take to change a light bulb?

A: we believe the light bulb will be changed by faith, not by works that we do.

Q: how many episcopals does it take to change a light bulb?

A: exactly three. one to change the light bulb, one to hold the chair, and one to mix the drinks.

Q: how many unitarian universalists does it take to change a light bulb?

A: well, you can change the light bulb or not change it, or just do an interpretive dance about light.

Q: how many catholics does it take to change a light bulb?

A: whoa, slow down! we're still burning candles around here.

Q: how many Quakers does it take to change a light bulb?

A: none, they just wait for the "inner light."

now that we've had our little giggles about "light," let us get on with the truth of the matter. if someone is offended, know that i tried to offend everyone equally. the truth is: "that the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil." john 3:19

perhaps never more so than now, we see darkness trying to descend all around us. this is not a time to draw back in fear but to boldly proclaim the truth we hold to be self evident. Jesus said, "I am the light of the world. he who follows Me shall not walk in darkness, but have the light of life." john 8:12 walk in the light as He is in the light and you'll never have to walk alone. (and you'll certainly never need to change a lightbulb. 😊)
