messiah 2030

"behold, He is coming with clouds, and every eye will see Him, even they who pierced Him. and all the tribes of the earth will mourn because of Him. even so, amen." rev 1:7

i was recently introduced to a new teaching that i found fascinating. it was titled "messiah 2030" and gave some interesting insights, backed up mostly by scripture.

it centered on the fact that a day with the Lord is as a thousand days, a sentiment that has several scriptures mentioning that. i will not disclose all of it's content for you here because i wouldn't want to spoil it for anyone who wishes to watch it on youtube.

to further strengthen their case of a thousand years being as a day, God told adam and eve, "but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you shall not eat, for in the day that you eat of it you shall surely die." gen 2:17 scripture records in gen 5:5 that adam did indeed die at the age of 930, within the thousand year day of God's calendar.

the documentary is about two hours long and goes on to show how all the numbers mentioned in scripture which we tend to gloss over, are actually showing us a timeline of things to come. God has said He reveals the end from the beginning. knowledge is increasing and seals are being broken. these numbers are revealing a pattern, weaving ages and timelines together, revealing how God (the master mathematician) is actually causing all things to work together for His purposes; even to the day of our deaths. "Your eyes saw my substance, being yet unformed. and in Your book they all were written, the days fashioned for me, when as yet there were none of them." psalms 139:16

i realize we all have free will and our actions have effects, but when one comes to God and allows Him to be Lord, are we now actually beginning to walk in His will, fulfilling His desired purposes, and can He not adjust things accordingly? while the unrepentant lives may indeed seem "random," are our actions no longer random but accomplishing His desired outcome. even in their "random" acts God has control of all the outcomes.

is God more intricately involved in our lives than we have really realized? does every pain, failure and accomplishment now serve His purposes? sometimes in writing my dailies i will struggle over just which word to use to convey my thoughts. is this really God rearranging things on the fly because He desires another meaning or expression instead? is this God causing, "all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to His purpose." rom 8:28 the fact is, i find that comforting and confirmation that we can indeed trust Him.

however much credence you give to the documentary, i will leave up to each person. but viewing it and contemplating on it is something i consider well worth doing. if you gain nothing else from it, you might see a correlation between God's timing and man's.

they speculate the birth and death of the messiah was a jubilee year and the church has since been wandering in their desert for forty jubilees since, hence arriving at 2030, for His return - two thousand years later. they speculate His return would be 120 jubilees, essentially 6000 years from creation. i didn't figure out how they lined that up with the fact that the now year of 2023 is the recorded jewish year 5783. other than that, it kind of makes sense if all the dealing with israel were type and shadow of what is to come, which scripture firmly confirms.

they really didn't get into whether they think pre, mid or post tribulation. maybe they didn't want to touch that controversy. leaving it unstated means it is left up to each of us to decide when we will see our Lord. if it indeed a pre-trib rapture, that means we should be looking up expectantly this year - but then again, we should always be looking up.

scripture does indeed say no man knows the day or the hour, but we should know the season and could a year not be considered a season? anyway, just as the prophet daniel spoke - knowledge is increasing and seals are being opened up for these latter days. many are studying diligently and we are reaping the benefit of their studies.

so now, if i have wettened your appetite enough, you may view it on youtube at this link: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4AG_nJNcTjM&list=WL&index=23 we all know it can't be long before our Lord returns.

there is only so much blasphemy and disparaging of His glory that He will allow; only so much corruption of His created image. "'surely I am coming quickly.'
amen. even so, come, Lord Jesus!" rev 22:20
